Bad Man Stabbed in Side During a Sunday Fight, And May Not Recover

Nick Milanovich is in the county hospital suffering from a serious stab wound in the left side that penetrated the lung and caused a profuse hemorrhage. Nick Bosovich, owner of the Miners' Home bar, and Dan Bosovich are held in the county jail awaiting the result of the injuries.

The trouble occurred in the Miners' Home bar Sunday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock when Milanovich became involved in a quarrel with the owner of the house. Milanovich has a bad reputation as he is reputed to be a gun man and last February was sent to the county jail for six months for shooting another. Owing to his physical condition the prisoner was paroled and allowed to go to San Francisco for treatment. He returned recently and began hanging around his old haunts with the supposed object of getting even for having been sent to jail. Under the circumstances the Bosoviches took no chances and, as soon as trouble started, both men called into Milanovich. Dan Bosovich is alleged to have used a heavy billiard cue on the head of the disturber while Nick is accused of drawing and using a keen edged knife which entered between the eighth and ninth ribs causing a three inch incision directly into the lung.

TESTING MACHINERY OF THE EXTENSION

COMPLETION IS FAR AHEAD OF TIME STATED BY THE COMPANY

So carefully were the plans worked out and so skillfully followed that practically all the machinery for the addition to the Tonopah Extension mill is now in position and there has not been a single shutdown or a particle of interference with the operation of the original plant.

The two new batteries were tried out yesterday and the additional tube mill a little later. All the apparatus is now here except the added cyanide tank. Superintendent M. Kirshen expects to have the entire plant in operation about June 15.

Meanwhile the big machine shop is practically completed and a carload of machinery has arrived ready for installation. At present the mill is being supplied entirely from the new shaft, which is outputting about 1800 tons a week. Retimbering of the Victor shaft is progressing steadily.

War Stocks Have Their Day

"War stocks" are being sold by investors and the supply in the Street is growing burdensome. No matter how large current earnings are the business cannot last forever. It is probable that some good bargains can be found in the group and discriminating investors will study closely the proportion of peace products some of these companies are making. In several cases war orders form only a small part of their business.—New York Commercial.

HUGH H. BROWN IS GOING TO WASHINGTON TO ATTEND THE LEAGUE TO ENFORCE PEACE

Hugh H. Brown leaves Tuesday morning for the east. Mrs. Brown, who is now on the coast, will join him in Reno and will accompany him to the Chicago convention, where he goes as a Nevada delegate. After the Chicago convention, they will go to the Democratic convention in St. Louis, as spectators. The Chicago convention begins June 7th. The St. Louis convention begins June 14th.

Before going to the conventions, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will go to Washington to attend the sessions of the League to Enforce Peace. Both of them are members of the league. The sessions will be held in Washington during the last week in May. Former President Taft will preside. Many men of national prominence will deliver addresses and participate in the discussions. The league to enforce peace is a world-wide movement. The organization is under way in a number of other countries. The American branch was organized a year ago.

This movement does not particularly concern itself with the present war. It has no plans for stopping the present war. The preliminary purpose of the organization is to devise a confederation among the leading nations whereby the prospect of future wars will be minimized. In regard to this work, Mr. Brown said:

"The main idea is this: It is proposed to make various nations enter into an arrangement to the effect that an international dispute shall be submitted to a conference of the powers before any offended nation shall take up arms against another nation. If the offended nation shall take up arms against another nation, without first submitting the question in controversy, then such action shall be tantamount to a declaration of war against all the other signatory nations. All the signatory nations undertake and stipulate that they will jointly and aggregately take up arms against any nation so offending. There is little use in trying to stop a conflict after it has begun; but there is much hope of diminishing the cases where international dissensions shall hereafter lead to fighting and it is against the outbreak of future wars that the proposed league to enforce peace is exclusively aimed.

"Moreover a prospect of immediate universal war is the one thing that would be sure to deter any country, however powerful or self-sustaining, from beginning hostilities with its neighbor. It is almost inconceivable that any nation would attack another if convinced that to do so would involve war with all the leading powers of the world. If, therefore, such a league as is proposed were formed by a sufficient number of great countries, it is in the highest degree improbable that the agreement to take up arms would ever need to be put into execution; for although there may be issues on which a nation would rather perish than yield, there are none on which it would prefer a public hearing before fighting its adversary, to fighting a whole array of powerful states without such a hearing.

"Most plans for the maintenance of peace among nations start with the idea of compelling the arbitration of disputes. This one starts from a different standpoint, that of preventing sudden war by force. It is the method pursued in the case of individuals within a community. The state does not compel a man to bring suit for an injury if he does not want to do so. It merely tells him that he must not resort to force; must not take redress into his own hands, on pain of punishment by the whole force of the community. So this plan does not tell a nation that it must submit disputes to arbitration and abide by the result, but that it must on pain of repression by all the members of the league go to war before the matter has been submitted to an international tribunal council."

In conclusion Mr. Brown said: "The name of this organization signifies the fundamental theory that is back of it. It is a league to enforce peace. Even if it should not produce any practical results for many years to come, yet it seems to be a commendable theory to work upon. In these times, any plan which seems to give some promise of better international conditions, is worthy to engage our interest and our co-operation."

FIFTY PER CENT GAIN IN OUTPUT

JUMBO EXTENSION COMPANY ARRANGING FOR INCREASED TONNAGE FROM MINE

Ben Gill, secretary of the Jumbo Extension while in Tonopah yesterday told the Bonanza that the company was arranging to increase the output by about fifty per cent. The Las Vegas & Tonopah line has thrown in a second spur to connect with the Velvet shaft bins and, in the course of two weeks the company will be sending out three carloads daily instead of two carloads as has been the case for the past eight months. The Tonopah & Goldfield railroad is also figuring on a spur over Jumbo Extension shaft where the greatest tonnage for the Consolidated mill is coming. Under its contract with the Consolidated the T. & G. railroad does all the hauling and switching over the railroad belonging to the Consolidated.

HIGH TREASON MAY BE THE CHARGE

Sir Roger Casement Arraigned in the Dock of a British Police Court

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 15.—Sir Roger Casement, who a few days ago achieved international fame for services rendered England in the exposure of the Putumayo rubber atrocities, faced the bar in the old Bow street police court for a preliminary examination to determine whether he is to be held for trial on the charge of high treason in connection with the rebellion in Ireland. Sir Roger was the supposed prime instigator. Daniel Julian Bailey, a private soldier, faced a similar charge. Not for years has so much popular interest been manifest in a court case. It is expected the evidence will show a widespread plot resulting in the revolt.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 15.—Lord Casement is reported to have made a statement to the authorities which it is believed will shorten his hearing before the magistrate. Sir Frederick Smith, attorney general, said Casement described himself as the organizer of the Irish volunteers and impressed upon Irish prisoners in Germany that every man was to be gained for Ireland by Germany's winning the war. Lord Asquith has gone to Belfast. His visit gives color to reports that he is trying to arrange a coalition between the two factions for a temporary war government of Ireland.

STEEL DUE FOR BRIDGE

READY FOR EXHIBITION WHEN TONOPAH ELKS REACH COPPER CAMP

If the five score Elks from Tonopah Round Mountain, Manhattan and Millers have to take chances of getting wrecked in fording Currant Creek on the road to the reunion at Ely they will have the doubtful satisfaction of seeing the material for the bridge to be erected at the creek placed on exhibition at Ely. The structural steel is due to arrive there by the fifteenth of May and it will then take from two to three weeks to complete the structure. Some concrete work has to be done before the steel can be swung into place so it is safely estimated that the bridge will be opened to the public by the first of June.

The contract was let to a Minneapolis company six weeks ago and the materials were shipped last week. It is needless to say that this Minneapolis firm never paid one cent to the up-build of Nye county and doesn't give a damn for its future.

Three bandits, including Juilio Cardenas, a Villista leader, were killed in a skirmish with an American detachment near the Rubino Ranch. The bandits attacked twelve Americans, who went to purchase forage, firing from the protection of a house. A rifle duel ensued with no American casualties.
